Population Trends!

A special edition of the Groton Daily Independent was published Sunday featuring population trends of select communities. We have included the graphs of the past 60 years from the local communities featured on pages 6-7 in this week's edition of The Groton Independent. There will be a special section on Sunday of the Groton Daily Independent featuring school enrollment trends.

School board sets priorities on facilities, outreach and staff development

By Elizabeth Varin

The Groton Area School District board formalized its goals for the upcoming school year during Monday's board meeting.

The goals call for improving outreach to rural areas, completing a formal evaluation of the middle/high school building to document major structural and functional issues, setting priorities for capital projects and enhancing staff training by creating a professional development advisory group.

According to the written guide, the board will implement a targeted community outreach initiative to strengthen engagement with families in the district's rural areas. The initiative includes at least four in-person outreach events, including regular board meetings held in district communities outside of Groton and offering community education events. The outreach plan will launch by October 1, with all events listed being completed by May 31, 2026.

The second goal listed has the board establishing a facilities review committee to evaluate the condition, safety and educational inadequacy of the aging middle/high school building. The committee will conduct an assessment, gather stakeholder input, establish cost estimates and produce a written report with findings and recommendations.

The assessment process will begin by September 15, with board discussion planned for November, February and May.

The school board also wants to increase staff buy-in for professional development through a redesigned professional development plan with input from district-wide staff. The goal is to boost participation, morale and the effectiveness of professional learning. The process must be completed by May 31, 2026.

While those three goals have a school-year end date, one goal has a quicker turnaround.

The board will develop and adopt a ranked capital improvement plan, with the district evaluating each potential project based on safety, educational impact, cost and urgency to ensure a clear prioritization. The deadline for this plan is January 16, 2026.

Work has already begun on this goal as district staff has met with representatives of Co-Op Architecture, looking at the current middle/high school facility. The company will send the district some barebones request for proposal documents to help the district narrow in on what services it is looking for the help with the evaluation process.

Other board action

- School lunch prices are on the rise slightly. The board approved increasing breakfast and lunch rates by 25 cents each. That brings rates to

- o $2.85 for K-5 breakfast
- o $3.35 for 6-12 breakfast
- o $3.75 for adult breakfast
- o $3.60 for K-5 lunch
- o $4.10 for 6-12 lunch
- o $5.25 for adult lunch

Rates for K-12 second lunch ($2.00) and K-12 second milk ($0.50) remain the same.

- Enrollment rates remained steady at the middle/high school, with 303 students as of Monday, said Middle/High School Principal Shelby Edwards. However, the number of elementary students has dropped, reported Elementary School Principal Brett Schwan. There are about 270 elementary students, with first grade and junior kindergarten class numbers down substantially. As of Monday, tentative enrollment numbers are nine junior kindergarten students, 45 kindergarten students, 32 first grade students, 54 second grade students, 42 third grade students, 48 fourth grade students and 41 fifth grade students, he said. However, those numbers may shift slightly as the school year approaches.

- School begins Tuesday, August 19. Open house at the middle school and elementary school takes place Monday, August 18.

- The board approved five volunteer coaches for fall 2025. Kelsie Roberts will serve as volunteer assistant boys soccer coach. Jenna Strom and Carla Tracy will assist with volleyball coaching. Dalton Locke and Quintin Biermann will assist with football coaching.

- The board accepted the resignation of Lois Krueger, part-time maintenance team member, effective August 18. Right after that, the board approved a work agreement for Anje Hinkelman, who will be the newest part-time food service team member/part-time maintenance team member.

- The district has purchased a 2014 Chevy 8-passenger van from the SD Federal Property Agency, said Business Manager Becky Hubsch. The district's new bus is still in Tulsa, but should be released soon and will be available within the next month.

- Incumbent board members Tigh Fliehs and TJ Harder were installed as board members, officially assuming their continued roles after an uncontested election in the spring.

AUGUST 5, 2025 – GENERAL MEETING

Meeting called to order by Chairman Sutton at 8:45 A.M. in the Commission Chambers, Courthouse Annex, Brown County, SD. Present were Commissioners Dennert, Dinger, Gage, Sutton and Wiese. Commissioner Dennert led the Pledge of Allegiance.

APPROVAL OF AGENDA: Chairman Sutton shared they needed to amend the agenda and add Fair Contracts. Moved by Commissioner Wiese, seconded by Dennert to approve the agenda as amended. All members present voting aye. Motion carried.

PROCLAMATION FOR NATIONAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AWARENESS MONTH: Scott Meints, Emergency Management Director introduced Patti Woods, Emergency Management Assistant Director, Randy Maddox, State Emergency Management Coordinator and mentioned Trevor Meints, who was unable to attend but is the Emergency Management Director for Avera St. Luke's and asked the Commission to proclaim August as Emergency Management Month and recognize those mentioned above.

Commissioner Wiese offered the following Resolution:
Resolution #2025-35
PROCLAMATION FOR NATIONAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT MONTH
BROWN COUNTY, SOUTH DAKOTA

WHEREAS, emergencies and disasters can occur unexpectedly, posing significant threats to life, property, and the environment; and

WHEREAS, local emergency managers, emergency managers across all sectors, community leaders, State governments, and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) dedicate countless hours to developing preparedness, response, recovery, and mitigation programs to protect the lives and property of all persons living in Brown County, the State of South Dakota, the United States and U.S. territories; and

WHEREAS, emergency managers across the area are charged with establishing and maintaining the capabilities necessary to effectively direct, coordinate, and support emergency and disaster response and recovery efforts; and

WHEREAS, the mission areas of prevention, protection, mitigation, response, and recovery align with the core capabilities identified in the National Preparedness Goal; and

WHEREAS, the emergency managers serve the nation by responding to countless emergencies and disasters each year, demonstrating commitment, compassion, and professionalism in protecting the public; and

WHEREAS the efforts of our nation's emergency managers have helped millions of community members across the United States recover, rebuild, and become more resilient in the face of adversity;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Brown County Commission declares the Month of August 2025 to be proclaimed as:

"NATIONAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AWARENESS MONTH"

in Brown County, South Dakota. We urge all community members to express their sincere appreciation for emergency managers in every sector who work diligently to prepare, protect, and serve our cities, counties, states, tribes, territories, regions, and organizations against all hazards and risks.

Dated this 5th day of August, 2025.

Seconded by Commissioner Dennert.

Roll call vote: Dennert-aye; Dinger-aye; Gage-aye; Sutton-aye; Wiese-aye. Resolution adopted.

OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC COMMENT: None

JAIL UPDATE: Sheriff Lunzman met with the Commission to give them an update on the Jail. He shared a couple samples of the material for the new padded cell that will be built in the jail. Sheriff Lunzman informed the Commission that the Jail is full to capacity and moving people out again. They are going to start having the arresting officer transport the inmate to wherever they can find room, whether that is Faulk County, Day County, etc. The transportation will be at the cost of the arresting officer's employer, such as the City of Aberdeen Police Department. Once the inmate is in custody then the costs fall on the Brown County Sheriff's Office. The number of people in the jail fluctuates because if you have someone that is intoxicated, they have to stay until they blow zeros, if on drugs then it is a 72-hour hold; or if Mental Health issue, they are held for 24 hours because Avera St. Luke's and Yankton are full, also. Sheriff Lunzman asked the Commission to work with the City of Aberdeen on funding and possibly building a new facility. He shared that Codington County and the City of Watertown are in the process of working together for a new facility.

BROWN COUNTY FAIR PROMO LIST UPDATED: Moved by Commissioner Dennert, seconded by Dinger to approve the updated Brown County Fair Promo List. All members present voting aye. Motion carried. (The full list is on file at the Brown County Fair Office).

FAIR CONTRACTS: Rachel Kippley, Fair/Fairgrounds/Parks Manager asked that the Commission approve vouchers for contracts that were already approved but they haven't received the documents back yet due to the changes from Neste Live to Fran Romeo Agency. Moved by Commissioner Wiese based on Rachel's recommendation to approve the vouchers for RedFerrin and Tracy Lawrence, seconded by Gage. All members present voting aye. Motion carried.

MINUTES: Moved by Commissioner Dinger, seconded by Wiese to approve the General Meeting Minutes of July 29, 2025. All members present voting aye. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION #2025-19
RESOLUTION TO ESTABLISH NEW WATER/ SEWER RATES FOR THE CITY OF WESTPORT, SD.

WHEREAS, the current water rates are not sufficient enough to cover the cost of distributing water and provide for upgrade of the water delivery infrastructure.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Westport City Council for Westport, South Dakota, that water/sewer rates for all residential and commercial users shall be as follows:

Each consumer shall pay a minimum charge of $49.00 dollars per month base fee. Water used during such month shall be at the rate of $9.40 per one thousand (1,000) gallons and the average rate is $15.00 per 1,000 gallons for over 12,000 gallons used.

Those consumers that have a hook up to the city water, but it is not currently using, will continue to pay and inactive fee of $44.00 a month.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that these water rates shall go into effect payable October 15, 2025.

Sam Hoppock seconded the motion. All in favor - motion carried.

COMMUNITY COMMENTS / CORRESPONDENCE: emails from Brown County – Emergency Management Office – notification system, Chris Anderson – building permits for Larson, Hoppock, & Youngerman

UNFINISHED BUSINESS- wastewater and drainage plans/ Stockwell Engineering – landowner lagoon discussion for end of meeting in executive session; Columbia Fest – Social Opportunities Group Report – Cheryl asked the council if there were any complications or issues. Next year the car show will be moved slightly. She wanted to thank everyone who helped in any way with Columbia Fest. The celebration went very smoothly.

Nuisances – Dana will talk to a resident about their intentions with some scrap metal.

Streets – John Hansen bladed the streets before Columbia Fest.

Parks – The contractors put in an additional filter in the park’s well to control iron numbers. Park View will be coming to evaluate trees before fall.

Lagoon/Sewer-executive session

Rubble Site – no report

NEW BUSINESS Dana has tried to contact Rod about the Voller’s trees. Dana did get an estimate on tree removal. The city received a QQP bill for a sign for the ballpark. Lorie told us that the foundation applied for a grant (on the city’s behalf) from the South Dakota Community Foundation to pay for a donor sign for the ballpark concession stand. She said that QQP will wait on the bill until the city receives the grant money. Scott (and the board agreed) that in the future there needs to be more communication before the city is presented with a bill they know nothing about.

FINANCIAL REPORT – Cara received audit recommendations from State Auditor. The city received a check from US Treasury - $3.20 (overpayment from 3rd Q 2024). We also received a check from Meyers Tractor Salvage – 221.20 (for scrap material taken out of the old ballpark.)

Cara presented bank balances. Jeremy Dosch made a motion to accept the financial reports as given. Trevor Meints seconded the motion. All were in favor – motion carried.

July 31, 2025, balances: SF - $ 99,407.03; SF Money Market –$ 152,756.27;

GF - $ 206,976.88; GF Money Market - $ 51,255.81; CD Money Market - $ 41,624.86

FIT - $15,927.70; Cash on hand - $0

Trevor Meints made a motion to go into executive session to discuss lagoon land details.

Jeremy Dosch seconded the motion. Start time 7:43 p.m. End time 7:57 p.m. Mayor Mohr adjourned the meeting.

The Minnesota Vikings opened the 2025 NFL season with a 20-10 preseason win over the Houston Texans. There was plenty to like in the aftermath, along with a few areas the team will want to clean up as they build toward the regular season opener on September 8. As Kevin O’Connell noted in his post-game press conference, “when you’re really not game planning a whole lot, it’s just about execution.” With that in mind, let’s break down the game.

Before diving into the game itself, I have to give a quick shout-out to the crowd. I was lucky enough to attend in person thanks to my uncle Jack, who generously gave me and my son his season tickets (he didn’t ask me to plug his business, but he owns MinDak Gold and Silver in Fargo, so if you’re looking to buy or sell, give him a call!). The Vikings have the best fans in the NFL, and it showed in how passionate they were for a preseason game. The gameday atmosphere in Minnesota is always electric, and the preseason is the perfect time to bring the family. My son was in awe from start to finish, and it’s a memory he won’t forget anytime soon.

Now let’s get into the game breakdown, starting with the offense.

The biggest storyline going into the game was second-year quarterback J.J. McCarthy, who took his first in-game reps since the first pre-season game last season. McCarthy completed his first four passes, three to Jordan Addison and one to C.J. Ham. He also scampered for eight yards to convert a 4th down near midfield. The drive stalled after that, but Will Reichard nailed a 48-yard field goal to give the Vikings an early lead.

Most of the starters were pulled after that first drive, giving the backups an opportunity to showcase their skills. QB Sam Howell played the rest of the first half and completed 11 of 13 passes for 105 yards, plus a goal-line plunge for the team’s only first-half touchdown. QB Brett Rypien started the second half but only completed one of four passes for six yards while also taking two sacks over the course of three drives. Rookie QB Max Brosmer finished the game with three drives of his own, completing five of eight passes for 47 yards and a touchdown. He clearly outplayed Rypien in the battle for the third spot on the depth chart, and could soon be ready to challenge Howell for the backup role.

Veteran running back Aaron Jones sat this game out, so Jordan Mason got the start and ran the ball four times for 20 yards on the opening drive. Ty Chandler was the next RB off the bench, getting five carries but only managing five yards, although he did have three catches for 20 yards. Xavier Scott, who is in competition for the RB3 spot, had seven carries for 40 yards and one catch for 11 yards. Tre Stewart finished the game, carrying the ball three times for 10 yards.

Superstar receiver Justin Jefferson is still dealing with an injury, so he didn’t play in this game. Jordan Addison led the team with three catches for 33 yards (all on the first drive of the game). Twelve players caught a pass Saturday, including Lucky Jackson (three catches for 30 yards) and rookie 3rd-round pick Tai Felton (two catches for 14 yards).

On the defensive side of the ball, a few players stood out. Second-year outside linebacker Gabriel Murphy had a strong game, finishing with 1.5 sacks and a tackle for a loss. Kahlef Hailassie ended the Texans’ last two drives of the game with interceptions to secure the victory, and Ambry Thomas added another INT.

Unfortunately for the Vikings, WR Rondale Moore was injured on his first punt return and is likely out for the season. Rookie center Zeke Correll was also injured, suffering an ankle fracture.

Looking ahead, the Vikings host the New England Patriots on Saturday. The two teams will have joint practices leading up to the game. I don’t expect many starters will play in this game, giving the rest of the roster a chance to compete for a spot on the 2025 depth chart.

Dear EarthTalk: Does exposure to air pollution cause “brain fog”? – Mark H., Raleigh, NC

Exposure to air pollution has long been connected to respiratory and cardiovascular issues. More recently, researchers have found evidence that it may also impair brain function. Studies suggest air pollution is associated with cognitive decline, memory problems and short-term cognitive performance—what many call brain fog—accentuating concerns about the effects of polluted air on mental clarity and brain health.

Air pollution is a combination of harmful gases and particles, such as fine particulate matter (PM2.5), carbon monoxide and nitrogen dioxide. These pollutants, frequently released by vehicles, industries and wildfires, can enter the bloodstream and access the brain. Research shows that high levels of air pollution are linked to heightened brain inflammation, interrupted neural connections and diminished oxygen supply, which may all lead to cognitive impairment. A 2025 study in Nature discovered that extended exposure to air pollution may hasten cognitive deterioration, especially among older individuals.

People exposed to elevated pollution levels usually experience symptoms like trouble focusing, memory issues and mental exhaustion. Dr. Caleb Finch at the University of Southern California, states, “The aging brain is vulnerable to air pollution.” His studies show that exposure to pollutants might elevate the risk of neurodegenerative conditions like Alzheimer’s disease. Kids and young individuals could also be in danger. The growing brain is especially sensitive to environmental toxins, and certain studies indicate that children subjected to elevated pollution levels might encounter decreased IQ scores and attention issues.

According to research from the University of California, Davis, polluted air is also associated with mood disorders like anxiety and depression, emphasizing how important it is to create cleaner environments in order to improve outcomes related to both physical and mental health.

Reducing the impact of air pollution on brain function necessitates joint efforts. Decreasing air pollution levels by implementing stricter emission regulations, expanding green spaces and encouraging cleaner transportation alternatives can aid in minimizing exposure risks. On a personal level, individuals can safeguard themselves by using air purifiers, refraining from outdoor activities during high pollution days, and promoting measures that encourage cleaner air policies. By lowering pollution exposure, we can make great strides in protecting brain health for upcoming generations.

These reports were created by ChatGPT. Data Commons (Google’s aggregated data) — often uses the U.S. Census Bureau’s Population Estimates Program (PEP) but may also blend other public datasets and projections from state/local agencies. Vintage 2024 U.S. Census Estimates — official federal estimate for July 1, 2024, based on birth/death records, IRS migration data, and prior census counts. This is the source that was used in standardizing across all towns so each page uses the same methodology.

Aberdeen, South Dakota — Population Trends

Year	Population
1960	23073
1970	26476
1980	25851
1990	24927
2000	24658
2010	26091
2020	28495
2024	27919

Aberdeen grew strongly from 1960 to 1970, then saw mild fluctuations through the 1980s and 1990s. Growth resumed in the 2000s and accelerated into 2020, reaching 28,495 residents. The 2024 estimate of 27,919 suggests a slight pullback from the 2020 peak but still above 2010 levels. Overall, Aberdeen remains a regional hub with long[] term stability compared with many peer communities.

Bristol, South Dakota — Population Trends

Year	Population
1960	418
1970	396
1980	397
1990	377
2000	377
2010	341
2020	288
2024	282

Bristol’s population has declined steadily from 418 residents in 1960 to 288 in 2020. The 2024 estimate of 282 reflects a continuation of this downward trend. As a small community in Day County, Bristol’s demographic shifts mirror broader rural trends in northeastern South Dakota.

Andover, South Dakota — Population Trends

Year	Population
1960	163
1970	146
1980	131
1990	102
2000	91
2010	91
2020	66
2024	68

Andover’s population has steadily declined over the past six decades, dropping from 163 in 1960 to just 66 in 2020. The 2024 estimate of 68 shows a slight uptick but remains far below historic levels. This long-term decline reflects the challenges faced by many small rural communities in retaining residents.

Britton, South Dakota — Population Trends

Year	Population
1960	1546
1970	1668
1980	1602
1990	1496
2000	1464
2010	1241
2020	1215
2024	1199

Britton’s population peaked in 1970 at 1,668 residents and has since experienced a gradual decline. From 2000 to 2020, the city’s population dropped from 1,464 to 1,215, with a 2024 estimate of 1,199. This trend mirrors broader rural population shifts in the Upper Midwest.

School Days Around the World

Students in countries all over the world are excited to be starting a new school year. Read the fun clues, then match each one to the country it describes.

1. strict dress code that even limits hair styles; sometimes pack lunches in 'bento' boxes: rice, meat, soup and vegetables
2. boys and girls in separate classrooms; enjoy spiced meat and noodles for lunch; some live far away so a bus with books is used to reach them
3. students have the same classmates from grades 1-10; no uniforms, students told to dress warmly; schools serve beet soup, bread, meat and a grain
4. students enjoy a long 2 hour lunch break often with bread, cheese and a salad; school year is in 4 sessions
5. in southern hemisphere so summer vacation is December and January; lunch: meat pies, egg and lettuce sandwich
6. school year is January to December, with a month break each semester; classes are in one of three languages: Hausa, Yoruba or Ibo; bread, vegetables and fruit for lunches

- A. France
B. Australia
C. Japan
D. Iran
E. Nigeria
F. Russia

Welcome to South Dakota's newest news desert

by Dana Hess

AUGUST 8, 2025 5:29 PM

More and more often, people in the journalism business talk about “news deserts,” those places that have no newspapers or other local news coverage. I always felt sorry for those places. Now I live in one.

Journalists and people who care about the news were stunned Wednesday when News Media Corp. announced it was closing its newspapers, including four in South Dakota: the Huron Daily Plainsman, The Brookings Register, The Redfield Press and the Moody County Enterprise in Flandreau.

The sudden closing of those newspapers will make life tougher for subscribers and advertisers, not to mention the employees who are out of work. It's tough news for me because I have a connection to all four papers.

I was raised in Huron. The Plainsman was my hometown paper, not that I paid much attention to it. My love of newspapers was developed later in life. The Huronite, as old-timers have been known to call it, didn't really get on my radar until my mother-in-law started working there as the secretary to the publisher. At the time, I was the editor of the Milbank Herald Advance. As a rookie editor, it was heady stuff for me when she would slip one of my editorials onto the publisher's desk to show off what her son-in-law was up to. Bless her heart, sometimes those editorials would be reprinted in the Plainsman.

My newspaper career started at The Brookings Register where I spent five years selling advertising. It was there that I fell in love with newspapering. I made three attempts to move from the sales department to the newsroom. The third time seemed like the charm. It tells you something about the way people are valued at newspapers in that I had to agree to take a cut in pay to become a reporter. At the time, the paper was owned by Stauffer Communications. Some bean counter at the home office cut the position.

While I thought my dreams of being a journalist had been crushed, the editor at the Register had other ideas. She had come to Brookings from The Redfield Press and knew that the owners there were having a tough time keeping editors. Their plan was to hire an editor and get that editor coached up on how to sell advertising. Once the editor was adept with a rate card, the owners would move on to another weekly newspaper and complete the process again. Their goal was to own a chain of weekly newspapers. However, they were stuck in Redfield because the news/editorial graduates they were getting from South Dakota State University had no interest in learning how to sell ads.

I was hired as editor and general manager of The Redfield Press because I already knew how to sell advertising and I had a keen interest in learning about writing and presenting the news. The lessons I learned in Redfield stuck with me my entire professional life.

From Redfield I went to Milbank and then on to the Capital Journal in Pierre. After stops as a writer for Game, Fish and Parks and University Relations at SDSU, my wife and I retired in Brookings. In retirement, one of the first freelance jobs I had was filling in as the editor at the Enterprise in Flandreau. I've been back to Flandreau a few times, filling in again just this past June.

I'd hate to think that I'm the common denominator as to why these four newspapers closed. It's more likely that the cause is some sort of corporate mismanagement as anyone could look at the Register or the Enterprise and see that they have plenty of advertising to support their woefully small staffs.

The evening of Aug. 6, when the internet was roiling with news of the closures, I heard from a Brookings businessman who was incensed at the turn of events. He was an occasional subscriber to the Register. He spends his advertising dollars in the competing shopper. Yet he was angry, as we all should be, at the notion that there is no one in our community chasing and reporting the news.

These closures bring home the fact that the vital job of journalism has to be sustained by the communities that are served by newspapers. Certainly you should subscribe, but there's more that you can do. Invest your advertising dollars in the publication that's watching out for your best interests by reporting the news. Frequent the advertisers in the newspaper, telling them that you saw their ad in the local newspaper.

The template for bringing news back to these four communities has already been created. When the Gannett newspapers in Sioux Falls, Aberdeen and Watertown turned into ghosts of their former selves with shrunken staffs and little or no local news, startup weekly newspapers stepped in to fill the news void. There's no reason to believe that the same formula won't work in Brookings, Huron, Redfield or Flandreau. The Dakota Scout of Sioux Falls has already announced plans to expand into Brookings and Flandreau.

We can only hope that someone with more money than sense will try to fill the news voids in Huron and Redfield. For everyone who still has a newspaper in their community, take the time and spend the money to nurture it and help it grow. Do otherwise and you'll wake up one day to find yourself living in a news desert.

Dana Hess spent more than 25 years in South Dakota journalism, editing newspapers in Redfield, Milbank and Pierre. He's retired and lives in Brookings, working occasionally as a freelance writer.
